The Ravenna Republican remarks: view of all that was said in the late local option campaign about the tax rate as item elsewhere in this issue car-rice some interesting information. The prediction was freely made and holster-ed up with columns of figures that the tax rate would soar. But what is the fact? The rate is the same in Ravenfact? The rate is the same in Ravenna, lower in Mantus, slightly higher in Kent and Mogadore. In the case of the former of the latter two towns the board of education increased its levy and in the latter the village had not figured on the possibility of having to refund the Aiken tax and it was necessary to make a slight temporary increase. As far as this first levy is concerned the abolition of the saloons has not affected the tax rate in Portage county one way or the other. It ramains to be seen what the future will bring forth.

HER TESTIMONY CREATS RATHER FAVORABLE IMPRESSION FOR HUSBAND.

White Plains, N. Y., July 14.-Evelyn Nesbit Thaw, as pretty as ever, stulant and school-girlish and dressed in the familiar blue which she affected so much during the trial of her husband, Harry K. Thaw, for the murder of Stanford White, was on the stand for more than an hour before Justice Mills in the supreme court here, subpoensed by the state in its effort to keep Thaw in the asylum for the criminal insane at Matteawan. Mrs. Thaw is a little more mature, perhaps, but she showed the same girlishness that won sympathy for her while testifying heretofore, and at times she was petulant to the extent

Stands by Her Husband. And though called by the state in an endeavor to prove Harry Thaw irrational, what Roger Clarke, the deputy attorney general, drew from her lips created rather a favorable impression for her husband. She was excused from the stand shortly after o'clock but was re-subpoenaed by the state. Upon the outcome of Evelyn Thaw's testimony the state's fight largely rests. Mr. Clarke tried hard to get her to admit that Thaw had threatened her life when she visited him on one occasion after his commitment at Matteawan. But, turning appealingly to the court, she repeatedly refused to answer his questions and after a clash between counsel, Justice Mills ruled that he would hold the conversation in which the threat was supposed to have been made a confidential one between husband and wife and therefore privileged until the state presented proof to show that Daniel O'Reilly, the New York lawyer, who was present at the time, was not then acting as counsel for both Mr. and Mrs. Thaw. This, Deputy Attorney General Clarke promised to do, and Mrs. Thaw was excused after identifying a number of papers in her husband's handwriting.

Aside from Evelyn Thaw's appearance, which was the sensation of the day, the testimony was much like that of the previous day-accounts by witnesses called by Thaw's counsel, all of whom attested to his apparent soundness of mind.

Antidote for Sulcide.

They tell of an Atchison girl who thought her heart was broken. She was so convinced of it that she began reading up on deadly poisons and cried softly to herself upon the thoughts of an early death. At this juncture a friend sent her a box of chocolates. She ate one; life looked a little brighter. She ate another; why not put off that death till next week? She ate a third, and forgot she ever had a trouble. All of which is proof of the claim of an Atchison phycian that when people are morbid and unhappy the most effective cure is something to eat. No one, he says, can long for death while engaged in chewing something palatable. The man who talks suicide needs a beefsteak instead of advice.—Atchison

Aver's Hair Vigor, new improved formula, will certainly stop falling of the hair. Indeed, we believe it will always do this unless there is some disturbance of the general health. Then, a constitutional medicine may be necessary. Consult your physician about this.

The reason why Ayer's Hair Vigor stops falling hair is because it first destroys the germs which cause this trouble. After this is done, nature soon brings about a full recovery, restoring the hair and scalp to a perfectly healthy condition. -Made by the J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass .-

Yes, Indeed

There is a difference. The surest proof that my eye examination is the most satisfactory is that my business is constantly increasing-of course, the other tellows have to live and I dont want all the business. I prefer people who appreciate the value of their eyes and who are only satisfied with the best, especially when the cost is less than for poor work.

Remember the true value of glasses is not in the material from which they are made; it is in the skill and ability of the man who prescribes them.
